

Investing to tackle energy poverty

Objective

SUPER-i fosters the transition towards more socially and economically inclusive urban areas, by supporting energy efficiency interventions in the social housing sector.

How? By helping generate investments and by collecting data on energy efficient refurbishment in the social housing sector.

SOCIALLY AND ECONOMICALLY INCLUSIVE URBAN AREAS

ENERGY EFFICIENCY IN SOCIAL HOUSING SECTOR

DIALOGUE BETWEEN FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, PRIVATE INVESTORS AND SOCIAL HOUSING MANAGERS, ESCOs

COLLECTING RELEVANT DATA ON ENERGY EFFICIENT INVESTMENTS

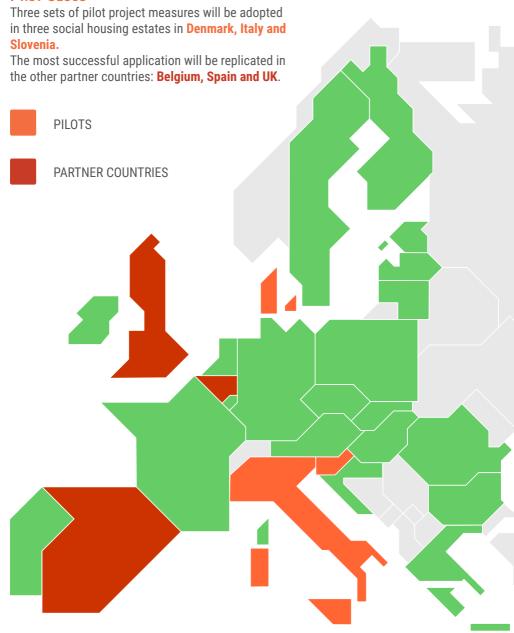

Impacts

The SUPER-i project will contribute to generate substantial investments in energy efficiency within the social housing sector by establishing a direct dialogue, at local level, between financial institutions, private investors and social housing managers while also involving ESCOs (Energy Service Companies) and by collecting relevant data on energy efficient investments and developing innovative financial schemes.

Result

The SUPER-i project will deliver innovative financing schemes to support energy efficient refurbishment in the social housing sector.
